

STUDENT CONFERENCE ON CONSERVATION SCIENCE BENGALURU 2024

PARTICIPATE

A platform for young minds to showcase their latest research and ideas in conservation science, and network with the leaders in the field from across the world.

INTERACT

During the four days of the conference, young researchers, mainly master's or doctoral students, and early career researchers, present their conservation related work and ideas in the form of talks and posters on which they receive feedback from conference participants, including peers and seniors.

ATTEND & LEARN

Plenary talks, panel discussions and interactive workshops featuring senior researchers and practitioners remain a major draw for them. Young researchers also get to interact with representatives from a large number of conservation institutions, becoming aware of career opportunities to channel their passion for conservation.
